Home Blog Help Sign In Join Almond milk may be the king of smoothie mix-ins, but it's a surprisingly versatile ingredient—keeping baked goods fluffy, saucy creamy, and giving beverages just a hint of sweetness while injecting your meal with nutrients. One 8-oz cup of almond milk supplies 38% of your daily recommended intake of calcium, and is also high in vitamins A and E, anemia-fighting riboflavin, vitamin D, and zinc. It may not supply as much protein as soy milk or cow's milk, but throw in a few other delicious whole ingredients and you can have a nutritionally well-rounded meal on the table in no time. Here are 5 ways to use almond milk at breakfast, lunch, dinner, and dessert: Toasted Almond Sticky Buns (pictured above) PREP TIME: 35 minutes / TOTAL TIME: 2 hours, 13 minutes / SERVINGS: 12 1/2 c sliced almonds 1 pkg active dry yeast 1 tsp sugar 1/4 c warm water 1 c unsweetened almond milk, at room temperature 3 Tbsp + 1/4 c honey 1/2 tsp sea salt 3/4 c all-purpose flour, sifted, plus extra for kneading 1 1/2 Tbsp unsalted butter, at room temperature 1/4 c packed light brown sugar 1 tsp ground cinnamon 1 tsp freshly grated nutmeg 1. PREHEAT the oven to 350°F. 2. PLACE 1 cup of the almonds on a rimmed baking sheet and place them in the oven until golden brown, 4 to 6 minutes. Transfer the almonds to a large plate and set aside to cool. 3. WHISK the yeast, sugar, and water together in a small bowl. Cover the bowl with plastic wrap and set aside for 5 minutes. 4. WHISK the almond milk, 3 tablespoons of the honey, and the salt together in a large bowl. Add 1 cup of the flour and whisk until smooth. Pour in the yeast mixture, then stir in the remaining 2 1/4 cups flour, mixing with a wooden spoon. Once the dough gets too difficult to mix with the spoon, use your hands to gently knead until it comes together to make a ball. Transfer the dough to a floured work surface and continue to knead until dough is completely smooth, about 6 minutes. 5. GREASE a large, clean bowl with 1/2 tablespoon of the butter. Place the dough ball in the bowl, turn over to coat in butter, and cover the bowl with a warm, damp towel. Let the dough rise in a warm, draft-free spot until it has doubled, about 40 minutes. Coat a 10-inch round cake pan with cooking spray and set aside. Turn the dough out onto a floured work surface and roll it into a 12 x 13-inch rectangle about 1/4 inch thick. 6. MIX the toasted almonds, 1/4 cup of the brown sugar, the cinnamon, and nutmeg together in a small bowl. Melt the remaining 1 tablespoon butter. Brush the dough with the melted butter and sprinkle evenly with a thin layer of the almond-spice mixture. Cut the dough lengthwise into twelve 1-inch-wide strips. Roll the strips up, forming a tight roll. Place the buns spiral side up in the cake pan. Cover with a warm, damp towel and set aside until they've increased in size slightly, about 20 minutes. Spread the tops of the buns with the remaining 1/4 cup honey, 1/4 cup brown sugar, and 1/2 cup almonds. Bake until golden brown, 20 to 25 minutes. Cool before serving. Platinum Skinny Mac and Cheese PREP TIME: 15 minutes / TOTAL TIME: 40 minutes / 41 1/2 tsp sea salt 3 c lg elbow macaroni 3 c unsweetened almond milk 1/4 c 1/2-less-fat neufchatel cream cheese, at room temperature 2 Tbsp all-purpose flour 2 tsp garlic powder 3 Tbsp finely chopped fresh basil leaves 4 Tbsp grated Parmesan cheese 1. BRING a large pot of water to a boil. 2. ADD 1/2 teaspoon of the salt and the macaroni and cook until al dente, following the package instructions. Drain and set aside. 3. WHISK the almond milk with the cream cheese, flour, and garlic powder in a large saucepan (it's okay if it's a little lumpy at first, the cream cheese will melt into the sauce as it warms up). Bring to a simmer over medium-high heat, then reduce the heat to low and cook until the consistency of a creamy Alfredo sauce, about 20 minutes. Turn off the heat. 4. ADJUST an oven rack to the upper-middle position and heat the broiler to high. Stir the macaroni, 2 tablespoons of the basil, 2 tablespoons of the cheese, and the remaining 1 teaspoon salt into the sauce. Divide the mixture among four 8-ounce ramekins (or use an 8-inch square baking dish) and place them on a rimmed baking sheet. Sprinkle the remaining 2 tablespoons cheese over the tops. Broil until the tops are bubbling and browned, 4 to 6 minutes (check the broiler often as heat intensity varies!). Sprinkle with the remaining 1 tablespoon basil and serve.
